“ My Grandma had taken me to the doctors, after the appointment she did what any Grandma would do and took me to get something to eat. So we went through the drive thru at Del Taco. She pulled up to what she thought was the speaker and went to start her order and realized she was starting to talk to the trash can. We were laughing so hard tears were running down our face. She almost couldn't compose herself to even order. Every time I would bring it up, she would just start laughing again. I will hold that laugh in my heart forever. ”
