“ I miss our mornings together. I miss our walks twice a day for the last two years. I miss our inside jokes. I miss your dark humor. I miss you coming in my room after work and telling me how your day went. I miss us sending TikTok all hours of the nights. I miss you teaching me something I never wanted to learn .I miss the last words you said to me was I love you . I just miss you my friend

“ Lauren, a genuine and special woman. She was such a space & electronics geek that she would help anyone if they asked and magically the issue would be fixed. Most recently she found her new passion of ice skating, always lit up upon arriving home after a skating session. We miss her dearly.
