“ I was very sorry to hear of Travis’s passing. I first got to know Travis when I moved into the ward he grew up in, in Hacienda Heights, and later, when we both returned to BYU, we became roommates. We were close friends for a time and shared a lot of good memories, including hunting outings that I still remember all these years later. Although we lost touch over time, I have always remembered Travis with real fondness and gratitude for that part of life we shared. My heartfelt condolences to Kelly and the entire Bloxham family.
