“ I only knew Wayne a few years, through his daughter, Janine. They had a special relationship. One time when picking up Janine for a road trip, he stood there as we were getting ready to leave and said "Take good care of my girl."

His girls were his life, daughters, granddaughters, great granddaughter... Wayne treasured them in tangible and intangible ways. He was honest and true, lived his life unapologetically. He passed that to his progeny. To test that theory, just gave a conversation with one of them. They'll tell you exactly how they feel.

Rest in peace, Wayne. Your pain is gone; your spirit lives in those on this Earth. They hold your legacy and will pass it to future generations.

“ papa Wayne ❤️ So many memories! The first time I slept overnight at I fell asleep 😴 and woke up with writing on my face and neck zZ Camping was always fun even though we had to fill trash bags with pine cones!! There's the time we learned the chicken dance I could go on forever he was an amazing man and we all loved him immensely! He'll be forever missed and loved ❤️

So sorry to hear about Wayne. I have very fond memories working with Wayne over the years. I'll certainly never forget his notepads always being a piece of scrap lumber. Peace be with you.
